Subject: Cargo Transport - Beta Protocol

General,

The cargo has arrived in Budapest via the Danube route. We encountered zero resistance at the border; the false diplomatic plates worked as expected.

The widows are currently in holding cells at the safehouse. Sedation is wearing off. I have instructed the guards to keep interactions to a minimum. We cannot have bruised merchandise before the gala tonight.

Subject 4 [REDACTED] is proving difficult again. I may need authorization to put her back in the chair for recalibration if she doesn't calm down before the buyers arrive.

Subject: The Budapest Exhibition - Client Arrivals

General,

The "gala" is underway. The assets have been prepped and are currently mingling with the guests in the ballroom. No one suspects they are lethal weapons; the guests only see the beauty we promised.

We have buyers from the [REDACTED], a representative from [REDACTED], and several diplomats whose immunity will be useful to us.

However, one guest arrived without an invitation but with the correct clearance codes. He is currently in the VIP lounge demanding to see the "Black Widow" prototype immediately. He claims to represent the [REDACTED].

Awaiting instructions.

Do not let him near the prototype yet. I need to verify his funds before we let him inspect the merchandise

I am sending you the encrypted ledger of all authorized accounts. Cross-reference his credentials against our high-value target list. If he isn't on it, liquidate him quietly.

The ledger key is [REDACTED]

Report back immediately with his identity.

General,

I've unlocked the ledger. The guest's credentials check out. In fact, his account balance exceeds the combined total of everyone else in the room.

He isn't just a buyer; he's a founding partner of the [REDACTED] program. If we sell to him, we gain access to S.H.I.E.L.D.'s surveillance feed.

Here is the guest's verified identity from the dossier:

VIP_Designation: [REDACTED]

He is asking for you personally. Shall I send him up?

Send him up. And clear the room.

I just spoke with him. He is not interested in the standard widows. He wants an asset capable of destabilizing government regimes without leaving a footprint. He mentioned something about "Project [REDACTED]" requiring a precise scalpel.

We are closing the deal tonight. Transfer the funds to the Swiss account. Once he leaves with the asset, burn the records of this meeting. If Fury ever finds out who we just sold a weapon to, he will bring the entire Helicarrier down on our heads.
